Total of Twenty Thousand Ex-Service Men Line Up For Parade At Cleveland

Legion Head Calls First Session to Order This Morning---Men to Vote on Many Propositions---Tremendous Crowds in Fifth City to Witness Parade

Upward of five hundred ex-soldiers and sailors, as well as members of the avation section of the World's War army, left this city today to attend the second annual convention of the American Legion in Cleveland today and to take part in the monster parade this afternoon at 2:30.

Most of the men were in uniform, some of them not having worn them since they took them off after their discharge from service. Commander Dan Symons of the Local Legion Post lined up the men in the public park this morning at eleven o'clock, and gave them their instructions. Lorain county men are to assemble at East 29th street, and Chester Ave., to participate in the parade. Many Elyria people have also gone to the city to witness the parade.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—More than1,000delegates were in their seats in the hippodrome theatre this morning when Franklin D'Olier, national commander called to order the second annual convention of the American Legion, approaching in importance the national sessions of the big political parties. The floor of the theatre resembles one of the big political conventions, state standards and pennants designating seats allotted to the various delegations.

Commander D'Olier presented Rev. Francis J. Kelly of Troy, N. Y. "The fighting chaplain," who delivered the invocation. Following the national chaplain, Mayor William S. Fitzgerald welcomed the visitors and delegates in behalf of the city.

Then, in order came the report of the national commander, the report of the executive committee on the convention program, naming of the convention committees, announcement of the time and place of the meeting of these committees, and the reports of the national adjutant and national treasurer.

The convention prepared to adjourn at noon to witness the parade this afternoon of approximately 20,000 former service men and women, the feature of the three days convention.

One of the first important matters to be presented before the convention after the preliminaries, was a report of the credentials committee. The committee was in session early today to decide two questions which, after protracted debate, failed to find a solution at a meeting of the executive committee last night.

These are: Shall each department be allowed only its five delegates at large and one additional delegate for even each 100 paid up members, or shall it be allowed one additional delegate for each 1,000 paid up members or major fraction thereof

Shall the posts in foreign countries be allowed votes in the convention?

Questions Before Committee

The credentials committee comprises one member from each recognized department represented at the convention, including all states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii.

Whether an additional delegate would be seated by states having a major fraction of 1,000 paid up members affected 2 votes.

The question of the seating of delegates or their proxies from foreign countries or outlying territorial posessions of the United

COX OPENS NEBRASKA CAMPAIGN

Democratic Nominee to Discuss League and Agriculture in Many Talks Today

NORTH PLATTE, NEB., Sept. 27—The League of Nations and agricultural problems were prominent topics of Governor Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, for his Nebraska campaign which opened early today at North Platte and comprised seven rear platform and two extended speeches, the latter this afternoon at Lincoln and tonight in the auditorium at Omaha.

Across the entire state, including brief state talks at Lexington, Kearney, Grand Island, Aurora, York and Seward, the governor leaving Cheyenne, Wyo., early this morning had one of the most strenuous programs of his western trip, the last week of which began today.

Nebraska Democrats laid out a gala tour for the candidate through the home state of William J. Bryan and Senator Hitchcock administration leader in the treaty fight. W. H Thompson of Grand Island, Nebraska's national committeeman, and others arranged to meet the governor's train at Kearney.

Governor Cox brought information to Nebraska agriculturists regarding material as well as moral interests of farmers and livestock growers in the league. The governor's matter included reports of declining exports of agricultural products which the governor assigned to lack of European credits, failing exchange and unsettled conditions at home and abroad with the league presented as a stabilizing remedy for volume and prices.

After his Omaha speech tonight the governor will tour South Dakota Tuesday, visit Sioux Falls, S. D., St Joseph, Mo.; Atchison and Topeka, Kansas, on Wednesday; spend Thursday in other Kansas cities, Friday in Oklahoma, and end his western "swing" Saturday at Kansas City.

Returning to Dayton next Monday, the candidate expects to take two days' rest and leave Wednesday on another trip, probably to Kentucky and Tennessee.

LATE Market REPORTS

THE DAY IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—With scarcely an exception, prices were substantially higher at the active opening of today's stock market. Sentiment seemed to be favorably influenced by the large gain in local federal bank reserves. Initial advances of 1 to 4 points were made by Crucible steel, Mexican petroleum, Great Northern, Canadian Pacific, Western Pacific, St. Louis and San Francisco, Kelly Springfield and Inspiration copper. Equipments, motors, tobaccos and the food specialties also were firm. American woolen was the only issue to record more than a fractional loss, declining 1 1-2 points.

All gains were lost before the end of the first hour, when last week's heavy selling movement of industrials and specialties was resumed Losses of 2 to 6 points were sustained during the morning by Bethlehem, Crucible, Republic and Nova Scotia steels, Chandler and Studebaker motors, Baldwin locomotive, Bosch magneto, Hide and leather preferred and American woolen. Coppers, shippings, corn products, food products and Coca Cola also fell 1 to 2 points Early advances in the rails, including various minor issues, also were forfeited when industrials became heavy. Call money opened at 7 per cent and British exchange was steady.

WHEAT SWINGS DOWNWARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Persistent selling in small lots had a bearish effect today on wheat. The selling appeared to be based on the general downward swing of commodity prices. Breaks which resulted forced wheat values to the lowest level yet since the resumption of trading in future deliveries. After opening 3-4 off to 1-2 advance, with December $2.17 1-2 to $2.19 1-2 and March $2.11 to 2.12 1-2, the market fell sharply all around but then recovered to about Saturday's finish.

Corn showed strength owing to unfavorable weather. Opening prices which ranged from 1-2 decline to 5-8 advance, with December 93 7-8 to 94 3-4 were followed by a sag all around and then by decided upturns.

Oats reflected the strength of corn, starting 1-8 to 7-8 higher, Dec 57 3-4 to 58 1-8 and continuing firm.

Provisions lacked support.

STRAND

"Girl In The Rain"

The Strand Theatre will offer Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the newest Universal photodrama, "The Girl in the Rain," starring Anne Cornwall, who has forged her way to the front of filmdom so rapidly and so deservedly.

"The Girl in the Rain" is based on a novel by Varick Banardy and was directed by Rollin Sturgeon, who may always be depended upon for a production that is well acted and perfectly filmed. Ann Cornwall has the role of a young girl who leaves school, where she has been cared for by her brother, only to find that this relative's source of income is looked upon with disfavor by the law. However she considers it her duty to stick by him until he is safe from detection and has an opportunity to turn over a new leaf.

While pursued by the authorities this brother, Walter, acompanied by his sister, Judith, and his wife, Vera, seek shelter in a country hotel in Virginia. In order to remain on the outside in case of apprehension, Judith goes for a ride in the woods where she is marooned by a terrific thunderstorm and where she meets with an adventure that turns the entire course of her life. Romance comes to her in the person of Bone Pendleton, of the Virginia Pendletons, and the love story which ensues is one of the most unusual ever devised. There is a surprise in every situation un-

COLONIAL

Not often are we given over to superlatives concerning the dramatic merits of a photoplay, and still less often to the artistic, but the picture showing at the Colonial, "Should a Woman Tell" is one of the most gripping, appealing and generally emotion-inspiring productions that have come under the notice of the reviewers in some time.

Accountable for this in large measure is the fact that the author Finis Fox, whose name is well known to the motion picture public as a sucessful adapter of plays and novels for the screen, has chosen for his topic in this story of his own a theme universal in human appeal and one which essentially is suited to dramatic treatment.

The interest centers in Meta Maxon, an everyday little fisher girl from a town on the Massachusetts coast, who, by reason of circumstances is brought into the life of Boston society. Ingenuous, entirely without knowledge of the ways—and means—of this set, she succumbs to the advances of a young chap, the nephew of the kindly woman who befriended her. Later in Meta's life comes true love; and it is then that her terrific problem confronts her. On the eve of her marriage the girl is undecided whether or not to tell her prospective husband of the incident of years ago, the stain upon her past. Well enough the girl knew the man she was to marry had not led a life free of blame. But she knew no less surely that men look differently upon the acts of women and their own escapades, and she hesitated. To tell would be to lose his love; to remain silent would be to endure a happiness made uneasy her entire life by the haunting fear that he might find out otherwise, and by the twinges of her own conscience. How she met her problem and solved it is a fascinating, powerful story of the soul-struggle of a woman To Alice Lake, who will be remembered for her splendid enactment of the part of Norah Blake in "Lombardi, Ltd.," the Bert Lytell picture which recently caused so great a sensation, was entrusted the difficult role of Meta and she handled it with a capableness which presages further achievement. Jack Mulhall, as Albert Tuley, was manly, unaffected and distinctly pleasing as the young painter, and Frank Currier did his portrayal of Metas' father, a thriftless old fisherman, with that skill and conviction which so few character actors of the screen have been able to approach, much less to equal.

The revival of the prettiest and most pleasing comic opera ever written—Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" which comes to the Rialto, Elyria, Tuesday, Sept. 28, is a triumph for Ralph Dunbar, the producer. The opera, with its scenes laid in beautiful Japan, is produced with that minute attention for detail, which characterizes all of the Dunbar attractions. It is perfect in cast, scenic effects, costuming and in properties.

The Dunbar name in the theatrical world is like that of Tiffany on silver. It means something. Mr. Dunbar personally selected the voices that sing the various well known roles in "The Mikado"; he supervised the weeks of rehearsals, spent long hours with his designers over the costumes and conferred daily with his artists until he was assured that the numerous scenic presentations were absolutely complete. In consequence he is bringing to this city an operatic offering that is vocally and mechanically the very best attraction of the present season.

That the local engagement will office of Manager Himmeline of the Rialto during the past week, the numerous requests for seat reservations that have rolled into the Extra help has been placed in the box office to handle the really wonderful advance sale which opened this morning.

OHIO CITIES END DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

COLUMBUS, Sept. 27. — Most Ohio municipalities which took up dyalight savings last spring, either already have set their time back or will do so this week.

October 1 will mark the change of time in Toledo while Columbus is slated for central time again next Sunday.

Cleveland and other eastern and northeastern Ohio points which normally operate on eastern time did not adopt the daylight saving plan. As was the case last winter, half of Ohio will again operate on eastern and half on central time.

SNYDER TO BIG FOR DECENT BURIAL

SALINA, KAN., Sept. 27.—Plans that "Snyder", the trained elephant which ran amuck here and was killed, be given a "decent burial" for sentimental reasons, got as far as reckoning with the prospective grave diggers. Figures furnished by local excavating contractor who said the grave would necessarily be about the size of an average house basement, only deeper, were declared by the circus owners to be prohibitive. The body of "Snyder" was thereupon disposed of in a commercial basis.

SMALL BUT A SURE WINNER

He's only five feet tall but "he's all wool and a yard wide." His name is Louis L. Collins and he was nominated at the June primaries as the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor of Minnesota. He is known all over the Gopher State as "The Litt' Corporal," a title earned from months of service in France with the French Foreign Legion and later with the 151st Field Artillery of Minnesota in all the major engagements in which that organization took part.

LORAIN COUNCIL TO HUNT FOR VIOLIN GHOST AND OTHER MUSICAL GOBLINS

LORAIN, Sept. 27.—Musical spooks Sh-h-h! The ghost of the violin, jazz skeletons, piano goblins, saxophone blues—they're all here—and they've worried Lorain residents so for the past week that a list of names went to city council petitioning that worthy body to conduct an investigation.

The mystery centers in the Century park dance pavilion at the outskirts of the city.

The hall, standing majestically on the banks of Lake Erie, was, at one time perhaps the most popular summer resort dancing rendezvous between Cleveland and Cedar Point.

But in the middle of the summer a state building inspector came and ordered the place closed. The floor was unsafe, he said, and in danger of collapse under the strain of a big crowd. The city safety director complied with the order.

The spirits of many a popular dance tune refused to die with the building inspectors edict.

In the still hours of the night, nearby residents assert, frequently can be heard the mystic moan of a saxaphone, the tattoo of a drum, the sharp tone of a violin and the shuffling of feet.

But the hall, sitting off in a little grove, back nearly a hundred yards from the only thoroughfare in its vicinity, [illegible] black as night.

The doors, one night [illegible] were locked. Then [illegible] —no signs of life, but [illegible] the strains of "Oh, By Jingo," the mysterious shuffle of feet.

It would all happen, Edgar Allan Poe-like, around the hob-goblin hour of 12. In the daytime [illegible] stitious persons would pay the [illegible] a visit.

They would find, as usual, signs of life. The cobwebs [illegible] cobbed and "for rent" was on the door—merely that and nothing more.

And then, again would come again, the midnight music and the nocturnal dancers.

And now council has been asked to investigate.

Some night councilmen would tell the exact date; the city fathers makers will pay the place a visit.

Practically all of the councilmen have expressed themselves as unbelievers in ghosts and spooks.

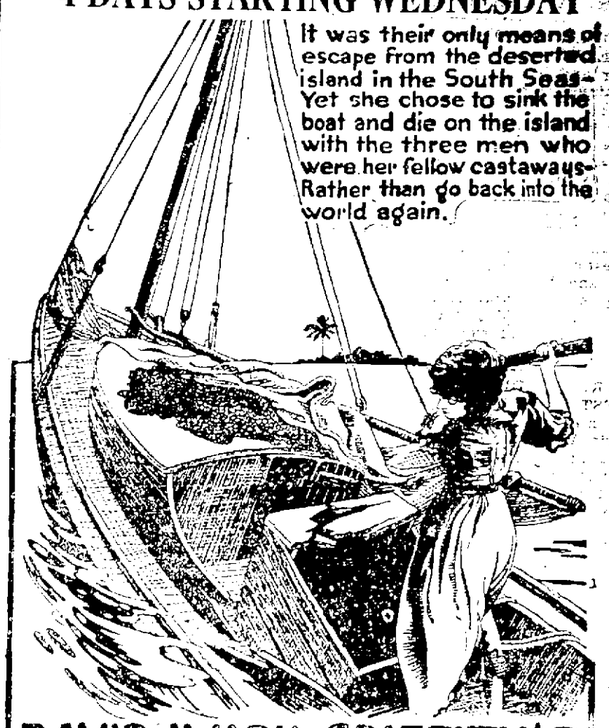

One councilman, who resides near the dance hall, blames the crowd of young people. He says they were disheartened when the dancing place was abolished.

"They are holding dances of their own. I believe you will find," he told other members of council.

[E]LYRIA HIGH SHOWS UP STRONG AGAINST AKRON HIGH, TAKES TWO TEAMS TO WIN 4 TO 0

[D]espite Hot Weather and Akron South Using Two Teams to Wear Out Elyria, Locals Held Visitors to 12 Points in Creditable Exhibition

The Elyria high school football team was defeated by South high school of Akron at Akron, Saturday afternoon by the score of 14-0. The score does not tell how completely Akon ouplayed the Elyria boys in certain departments of the game. Neither does the score indicate how the Elyria boys had South fighting in her own territory for almost the entire last half. Akron started strong and kept up the attack throughout the game. South's goal was never seriously threatened by Elyria at any time during the game.

The weather and the fact that South was playing a home game gave South a great advantage. The weather conditions were ideal for baseball but exactly the opposite for football. The spectators even complained of the heat on the bleachers. The players became exhausted quickly. This gave South an advantage. As soon as South's coach noticed any player showed signs of exhaustion he immediately replaced him with a fresh player. South had four teams on the field before the game and actually used two whole teams in acomplishing Elyria's stone wall.

Captain Penfound was the only player to gain through the line. Every time Elyria attempted an end run a South player would filter through the line and nab the runner. Whenever the local boys would make a gain the referee would take the ball and start in the opposite direction for fifteen yards. In [o]ne case the referee carried the ball a distance of the length of the field against Elyria. That fact is bound to have some effect on the game when the thermometer registers 90 in the shade.

The game showed decidely that the Elyria boys must work harder than ever if they want to stop East [Liverpool] next Saturday and Fremont [Oc]t. 9th.

OBERLIN'S CAGE PROSPECTS GOOD

OBERLIN Sept. 27.—Oberlin's athletic boom which began in the basketball season of 1918-19 and culminated in winning the Ohio football championship last fall should continue through the basketball season of this winter, as material now in school warrants the prediction of an unusally strong team.

The five will have a new coach in Louis Keller, who has been baseball coach since 1916, but never has handled the court squad. Last years' coach, Jacob Speelman, is not in Oberlin this year.

Although five letter men were lost by graduation the cage team should be much stronger than last winter. Capt Wheeler should play one forward, and possibly Paul Landis, who starred on Lincoln High two years ago, will make the other forward. Landis is a crack foul shooter and also dangerous from the court.

Howard, who played center in 1918 and was not in Oberlin last year, will be out for the team again. He was an All Ohio selection, and will have some competition with Lauthers, Stallings, and Nye also out for the pivot position.

For guards McPhee, the present football captain, and former captain of Youngstown South High basketball team, and Winters, a freshman last year are experienced and fairly heavy. Winters is an accurate shot and McPhee shines at covering dangerous forwards

Berthoff, Frey, Steller, Millikan and Landis were lost through graduation along with Capt. Hubbert.

OBERLIN FIGHTS FOR STATE HONORS

Two Good Ends Must be Developed Out of Ordinary Material, Howe[ve]r

OBERLIN, Sept. 27.--After the first week of varsity football practice here, it is evident that Oberlin will be again a contender for the Ohio championship if Coach T. N Metcalf can develop two good ends out of ordinary material

The backfield will be fast and experienced, the line should average 175 to 185 and if capable end players can be manufactured to succeed the Cleveland boy, Nig Steller, and Millikan, who both made the all Ohio team last year, the team will be very good.

Backs are plentiful and experienced Capt. McPhee will play half back with Leon Taylor, another all Ohio selection, on the other half. Wheeler, last year's quarter, is again out for the team, while for fullback and utility backs there are Parkhill, Mayer and Winters. Parkhill will be remembered for his fifty-six yard dropkick against Western Reserve in 1918. Mayer also was a regular that year while Winters is from last year's freshmen.

Barden, center, Stallings, tackle, Anderson, guard, and Landsdale, tackle, are out for the line and the six average about 175. Anderson, who subbed last year, is in fine condition and deighs in at 195. He formerly played at Allegheny high of Pittsburg.

There are more than a dozen men out for the ends, but none has had any varsity experience except Newsom, who was a sub last fall. Some of the others are Andrews, Browning, Emerly, Lay, Landis a Lincoln high school boy and Rckers. Andrews played end on the freshman team in 1917

Besides the tackling and offensive ability which Nig Steller took with him when he finished school last spring he also left the team without a very capable punter. Wheeler has had some experience, and so has Taylor, but neither can avdrage more than thirty-five yards Wheeler gets a good spiral and is more reliable than Taylor, and possibly he will do the punting. It is probable that the regular backfield will include McPhee, Taylor, Wheeler and Parkhill, although Mayer and Winters have a good opportunity to make a regular job.

The first game is against Heidelberg here next Saturday, and Ohio State will be played the week after at Columbus. The Oberlin fans do not hope for a victory over the big school but will be satisfied if State is held to twenty-five points.

Steller is assistant varsity coach this fall and a great deal of his time will be spent in drilling ends. The rooters here believe that Oberlin can repeat for the state championship, however, but fear Wooster and Miami.

LORAIN HI IS RIGHT, ELYRIA TEAM'S STRONG

LORAIN, Sept. 27—Vernon Braddon, former Lorain high school football player, has joined the ranks of 'he enemy.

By enemy we mean Lorain high school's stiffest rival, Elyria.

Braddon is holding down an end position on this year's Elyria team and reports from that city concerning him are very favoable.

In fact too much that way.

Braddon did not desert Lorain for Elyria, wilfully. In fact, he was forced into it. Braddon's parents moved to Elyria. That explains the whole thing.

Braddon was developed into an end by Coach Daniel of the local school last season. He played in most of Lorain's games last year and just missed earning a letter by the narrowest of margins. He played in most of Lorain's games last year and just missed earning a letter by the narrowest of margins

He would have ben a big asset to the Lorain team this year, as the local school was minus two ends at the start of the season. But as it is, he will probably do considerable damage to the local school when the two teams meet.

Reports from Elyria are that the school will be represented by an exceptionally strong team this year, but several injuries, developed last week, will handicap the 100 per cent city boys in the first few games of their schedule.

Elyria is boasting of a heavy line this year, which they think will hold their own against any of the other school this year.

MID-WESTERN GRID SEASON OPENS

CHICAGO, Sept. 25—Mid-western football players inaugurate the 1920 season today in four games, the most important of which, as regards the Big Ten conference race will be the contest between Indiana, the only western conference team to get into action, and Franklin college at Bloomington, Ind. The "big ten," season will open a week later.

Other games in the midwest follow:

Michigan Aggies and Kalamazoo college at East Lansing, Mich.; Case and Hiram at Cleveland and Drake and Penn college at Des Moines.

With the Indiana-Iowa game only a week away, the contest at Bloomington is heing watched with interest throughout the western conference.

The Indiana eleven is made up of veteran players, most of whom participated in the defeat of Syracuse last season in one of the season's startling upsets Coach Stiehm announced that he did not expect an easy victory despite two weeks' preparation adding that he would take no chances of injury to star players with the teams' first conference contest a week distant.

Valparaiso university, which defeated Carroll college yesterday by a score of 51 to 0, is to meet Harvard October 9.

OBERLIN WINS FIRST LEAGUE GAME SATURDAY

Defeated Bellevue High On Home Field by Score of 18 to 0.

OBERLIN, Sept. 27.—Oberlin high's football team kept in the running for the Little Big Six championship when it defeated Bellevue high here Saturday on Rawdon field, 18 to 0.

The game was lacking in thrills, as the open field running of quarterback Farrar was practically the only sensation of the contest. Both teams showed need of practise and conditioning, and the play was marred by constant interruptions and time-outs.

All the scoring was done in the first half, when Oberlin got the jump and ran up two touchdowns before Bellevue found out the game had started. The Red and White boys, however, pulled together at the last of the first half and during the rest of the game played evenly with Oberlin.

Early in the first quarter Oberlin carried the ball on straight football to the visitors' five yards, from where it was taken over by fullback Morris on a plunge. Goal was failed. A few minutes later, after Oberlin took the ball after a punt and went up the field on end runs and tackle plays, Rudekoff bucked over the second score.

The final touchdown came in the middle of the second quarter. Farrar broke loose for a gain of 30 yards, taking the ball to the Bellevue ten yard line for first down. The third attempt at the line gained the necessary four yards with Richardson carrying the ball, completing the scoring for the day.

The second half was slow, as both teams showed lack of condition and time was frequently taken out to allow players to recuperate. Bellevue showed a good defense in this half, but did not have the punch on the offense when inside Oberlin's 35 yard line. Lopeman, Bellevue's halfback, was their most consistant gainer. Bellevue made poor plays at critical times, however, their center offending several times with poor passes.

Nuby, at guard for the visitors, played a clever game and was a thorn in the side of Oberlin's line plays. Aigler, halfback, also played well. For Oberlin Probert starred on the defense with Worcester and Fitzgerald, while Morris and Farrar proved the best ground gainers. Score:

PLEADS FOR ELIMINATION OF ACCIDENTS

Milwaukee Wis, Sept 27 — Most deaths and injuries caused through public utility accidents can be eliminated by safety education in the public schools, according to Dr E George Payne principal of the Harris Teachers College, of St Louis, Mo chairman of the educational section of the National Safety Council who spoke before the ninth annual safety congress today

The proper training of children in matters of accident prevention exerts a strong influence not only upon them but reaches and influences their parents Dr Payne said If the children are properly drilled in safety the whole population will in a short time be educated in this important matter he declared for the children of today are the adults of tomorrow

It should be a comparatively simple matter to train children to guard against every accident, he said, because there are only a limited number of situations perhaps thirty in all in which accidents happen to the public

"In the years 1917, 1918, and 1919 in St Louis, forty children between the ages of five and sixteen were killed in public utility accidents In every case and in about 1 000 similar accidents, which did not result fatally, there were only four situations involved," Dr Payne said The first was stealing rides on street cars second running into the streets while playing and being struck by street cars third from contact with live wires generally from grasping dangling wires and fourth, from playing on railroad tracks

In the case of every accident the children were out of direct control of all those who are accustomed to exercise authority over them, teachers parents and policemen It is evident then that the problem is an educational one, and a very simple one—it is a matter of developing control within the children themselves—the development of habits, knowledge and attitudes towards four specific situations"

New Lake Rates on Grain Ineffective

Chicago Sept 27—The new rates for grain on the Great Lakes are practically ineffective as yet because the railroads have failed to deliver grain to the lake ports Arthur C Sullivan, president of D Sullivan and Co vessel agents, said here today.

"Under the advantageous water freight rates to Buffalo an enormous business could be done on the lakes if the railroads could haul the grain," said Mr Sullivan. "It is simply not coming into Chicago nor to Duluth, the great shipping points on the American side of the Great Lakes.

We have of course carried some but nothing to speak of —a very nominal amount. The big movement comes in October and November These months are already almost on

"The grain has got to get out some time Pressure from inland points will force it out Indications point to a tremendous flow east in the next two months"

ACCIDENT RATE MAKES LOW RECORD

Milwaukee Wis Sept 27 —The fatal accident rate and the non-fatal injury rate in 48 companies employing 600 000 workers was the lowest on record during the past five years, Frederick L Hoffman third vice president and statistician of the Prudential Insurance Company told the ninth annual safety congress here today

The fatal accident rate per 1 000 men employed was 1 08 in 1919, he said as compared to an average rate of 1 27 during the years 1915 1919, inclusive, and 1 31 for 1918 The maximum death rate was reached in 1916 with 1 36 deaths from accidents per thousand employees

The non fatal injury rate for 1919 was also the lowest on the record, with 106 5 per thousand employed The maximum was in 1916, with 151 74, while the average for the five year period, including 1919 was 129 65.

Mr Hoffman urged manufacturers to keep more detailed figures of accidents and injuries and pointed out that the system of taking the hazards of employment into consideration when fixing wage awards had been recognized in the Transportation Act and was considered in arriving at the recent railroad labor and anthracite coal miners wage awards

STATE RAISES WILD TURKEYS

Columbus O Sept 27—Wild turkeys will again inhabit the woods of Ohio if plans of the state bureau of fish and game along this line are successful The bureau has raised 75 wild turkeys this year and will transfer these as soon as possible to the game refuge which it proposes to establish in southern Ohio Wild turkeys have been practically if not wholly unknown in Ohio for 40 years it is said

Pennsylvania brought back the wild birds in five years in such numbers that they again afford excellent sport for hunters in the Keystone state Ohio game officials have similar hopes

The state bureau started its work this spring when it brought a dozen old birds for breeding purposes from the owner of a private game farm near Akron With these as a nucleus the bureau has raised 75 birds this year and it expects these to multiply next spring

It is not proposed to distribute these birds all over the state for this would result in their extermination as rapidly as they are placed Wild turkeys require dense wilderness and for many years distribution will be confined to game refuge The bureau plans to open new game refuges from time to time and these will be thrown open to sportsmen

The department made 26 sanitary inspections during the month 535 of which were groceries, 48 meat markets and 43 restaurants Forty five samples were taken for analysis, 23 of which were milk These also included cosmetics cider ice cream cones maple sugar ground coffee and ice water

Frankfort Ind Sept 27—So poor a few weeks ago that he was glad to accept work of any kind J M Smith 40 of Frankfort now is relieved of all cares Just when things were looking very bad he fell heir to one half of a $200 000 estate The money was left by an uncle Samuel Smith a coffee merchant at Charleston W Va When he was notified of his uncle's death Mr Smith was unable to attend the funeral because he was financially unable to do so it was said

Just 'a Good House'

There's nothing fancy or frilly about the house-plan shown here.

It's just a good house—one which will look well almost anywhere. This design is equally desirable for a suburban home or for a residence in the better residential districts of the city.

The large reception hall and the handsome stairs are unusually attractive features. Second story can be finished with one or two additional rooms if desired.

This is a very inexpensive house to build.

HARDING WILL BE AT OLD FASHIONED POLITICAL RALLY

Columbus Sept 27—A real old fashioned political rally but with the difference that a presidential nominee is speaker and guest of honor is scheduled for Saturday October 2, at Wilson's Corners in Madison county

Senator Warren G Harding will arrive at noon and deliver a speech to the crowd that will be composed of delegations from Madison and surrounding counties in addition to the many who will travel from all parts of the state to attend a political event of such unique character

With Senator Harding will speak Congressman S D Fess and Miss Rose Moriarty, organizer for the National Republican committee Dr L E Evans, chairman of the Madison county Executive committee, has planned for the occasion in detail, one feature of which is to be a flag raising in the style of other years Two large capacity tents are to be erected to provide unpleasant weather The outing and rally will be an all day affair with those in attendance expected to give personal attention to the noon food supply.

Wilson's Corners does not even boast of being a hamlet It is a crossroads in the northeastern part of Madison county and of easy access from most any section of central Ohio It is on the Middle Pike, five miles north of West Jefferson and seven miles south of Plain City. West Jefferson is on the National Road, fifteen miles west of Columbus

Total of 20,000 Ex-Service Men Line Up For Parade

States involved 86 votes
Pending decision of these two questions the voting strength at the convention ranged between 1,047 ad 1,156.

Legion organizations in Mexico, Panama, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Argentine, Belgium, British Isles, Canada Chile, Cuba France, Guatemala, Japan, Poland, Samoa and Santo Domingo were involved.

The executive committee decided last night that representation in the convention should be on the basis of paid up national dues August 28, last, which on that date totalled 818,680. There was strong objection to this ruling by many states, particularly New Jersey, where it was said the membership had been increased by eleventh hour efforts from 22,000 to 36,000. National dues for more than 1,000,000 have been received now, it is said.

Two Million Members

R. G. Creviston, director of organization for the legion said more than 2,000,000 men have joined the legion. He explained the disparity between that figure and the number of national dues received represents delinquents and unacknowledged payments of national dues.

It is regarded as certain that payment of national dues will be discussed in the convention because in the opinion of many delegates, the present methods are too slow and involved.

How the case of the ex-service men and particularly the disabled has been championed in Washington during the past ten months, was shown by the report of John Thomas Taylor, chairman of the national legislative committee

In all 473 different bills were presented to the sixty-sixth congress that vitally affected the veterans, the legislaive commitee duty was to see that action was taken on them

High lights in the legislative accomplishments of the legion are the Sweet bill, increasing the allowance to disabled men from $30 to $80 a month; the obtaining of $46,000,000 for hospitalization for the disabled; increase in pay of vocational training students from $80 to $100 a month, investigation of the methods of the federal board for vocational training leading to improvements laws to expel and exclude aliens who are anarchists; among the bills that have passed in only the senate or the house are the Wasson bill, that improves the war risk insurance act, and the adjusted compensation bill.

Other Acts Pending

Other legislation that is pending covers such subjects as hospitalization, aviation, land settlement officers retirement, sedition, aliens, immigration. Americanism civil service, slackers and war risk insurance.

An instance of what the legislative committee accomplished is furnished by the case of the provisions made for the war's disabled.

The sixty-fifth congress appropriated approximately $150,000,000 for the disabled. Since the establishment of the legislative committee in Washington, the sixty-sixth congress appropriated $358,545,000.

Reduction of war risk insurance premiums, an issue to be brought before the convention will be opposed by members of the war risk bureau, it was stated by Major Grover F. Sexton of the bureau The opposition of the bureau will be based on what members feel to be the unsound business policy involved.

Col. R. G Cholmety-Jones, director of the bureau, will discuss change in methods of compensation and hspitalization proposed in the Wasson bill

Allied Soldiers May Organize

Veterans of all the allied nations, it is said, will start a movement at the convention to form their own "league of nations"

The proposed amalgamation will include the soldiers' organizations of the United States; the great war veterans' association of Great Britain, the union of fighters of France and several other French associations.

The convention will close Wednesday with the election of officers and the adoption of a ritual for initiation into the legion

The most prominent names mentioned in connection with the nomiation for national commander are F. W. Galbraith of Cicinnati; Milton J. Foreman of Illinois; Emmett O'Neil of Kentucky and Hanford MacNider of Iowa.

Approximately 50,000 visitors were here today to witness the parade

A half holiday was proclaimed by Mayor Fitzgerald. Schools and many factories were closed for the afternoon and all downtown stores closed when the procession passed

TWO MORE WOMEN NOTARIES HERE

Two more commissions of two Lorain women for Notary Public were received by Clerk Williams for record this morning. They are Miss Luella Roth stenographer for George L. Ho! For Summer Sandwiches

In hot weather, when you're hungry, but don't want anything too heavy, try the satisfying effect of a club or chicken sandwich garnished with lettuce—light but substantial; you'll find it ideal, non-heating Summer fare.
Here are some sandwich recipes just right for the dog-days—equally delicious for the Sunday night supper, the basket lunch or the motor-trip.

Club Sandwiches
Make ready the desired number of pieces of toast. Prepare each sandwich as follows: Place a lettuce leaf on one of the slices; sprinkle over it a teaspoonful of salad dressing, add the sliced chicken; put on a little more lettuce and dressing, then the bacon and tomato, and more lettuce and dressing. Finish with the second slice of toast. Cut the sandwich cornerwise. Garnish with very small lettuce leaves or parsley and serve at once.

Hot Chicken Sandwiches
Cut Bread in slices one-quarter inch thick. Spread lightly with creamed butter and lay on thin slices of chicken Sprinkle on a little celery salt. Press the second slice of Bread in place; toast on either side and when finished butter the toasted surfaces.

Jelly Sandwiches
Spread butter slices with currant jelly and sprinkle with chopped English walnut meats. Trim crusts and cut slices in half, diagonally. For jam or marmalade sandwiches follow the same directions omitting the nut meats

Outing Sandwiches
Prepare the desired number of slices of Bread and butter lightly. Peel one or two sweet apples, core, and slice very thin. Place a layer of apple on the bottom slice, then a generous spread of peanut butter; add another layer of the apple and press top slice firmly in place.

To get the most delight and benefit from these Summer sandwiches, they must be made with quality Bread. You'll find—

THE NEW FRENCH GOVERNMENT

The election of a new President and the choice of a new Premier reflect a stabilization of political conditions in France. Millerand, after a brilliant service at the head of the Cabinet, has been chosen President almost without opposition. He stood for a policy in foreign relations which consolidated the parties in the Chamber and had the strongest support from the public. Most Frenchmen view the post-war European problem from the same angle. Unity of attitude has been achieved under the pressure of national necessity—the necessity of preserving for France the full guaranties of the peace treaty.

Before the war French parties divided acrimoniously on many domestic issues. There were numerous groups in the Chamber, and all of them emphasized their antagonisms rather than their agreements. An American or Englishman, accustomed to the two-party system, was often puzzled by the great variety of factions in Paris, distinguished from one another by names which carried little real significance. There were Radicals, Radical-Socialists, Unified Socialists, Independent Socialists and Progressists—all belonging to the dominant Left. There were, besides, Conservatives, Republicans of the Left and Nationalists.

The war compelled a coalition—the so-called Union Sacree. It also enforced the lessons of patriotic solidarity and nationalism. The new Chamber—elected in 1919—was said to be predominantly national in feeling.

Millerand represents the new regime, which is striving to build up France and to liquidate war burdens. The new Premier, Georges Leygues, and is said to be a leader in the Republican group, a moderate and an intellectual. He has sat in the Chamber since 1885 and has been a member of six or more Cabinets. Most of his Cabinet service has been in the Department of Public Instruction. He is said to be an authority on educational matters and a prolific writer on education and other public questions. He is more conservative in his political affiliations than Millerand, since the latter was originally a Socialist and was the first Socialist to accept a Cabinet portfolio.

The present French government, therefore, stands for a continuation of the war tendency toward unified national action. All factions must drop their old artificial animosities and get together in order to tide France over the peace crisis. Unity is as much needed in solving internal economic problems as it is in gathering the fruits of the victory over Germany. France saved herself by enormous sacrifices from her most dangerous external enemy. But it will take her many years of patient effort to consolidate her moral and military success.

As A Woman Thinks

THE WAY OF A MAID

By Edith E. Moriarty

A woman who is running for judge in one of the states where women have just been franchised condemns the system which frees a woman and convicts a man of the same crime. She condemns courts which women can sway and deplores the fact that judges tend to acquit and judges incline toward leniency when it is a woman defendant.

Perhaps it is a bit unfair and a bad state of affairs, but there is little can be done about it, for it is a deep seated thing—this tendency to be lenient with a woman. It is quite a common thing for the law to bend its arm just a little when a bit of femininity is concerned. The officers of the law, from the corner policeman to the judge on the bench can scarcely be harsh with a pretty woman.

Woman starts in very young to flirt with justice, it was proved the other day at a school crossing. The big burley policeman on traffic duty there was fierce and commanding in his attitude toward all drivers of cars and trucks. Little boys who tried to run across the street were severely scolded and marshaled into line to wait his signal to cross. When he had four or five youngsters in line he would stop traffic all ways and lead them across the street. The boys were marched in order, but the little girls clung tightly to his hands and gazed affectionately up into his twinkling eyes.

A little group of children were standing about him waiting the next personally conducted trip across the street. Finally he halted traffic and started with his charges. A demure little baby of scarcely six summers hung back on the curb. He motioned her to join him but she hung back. He walked over to her and she stood on tiptoe and whispered something to him which must have been good evidence for he left her there and took the rest across.

But still he did not signal traffic to move on. The officer crossed the street to the little golden curled lady, gently picked her up in his arms and strode in a very dignified and paternal fashion across the street, set her down and returned to his post all smiles.

"She didn't want to get her new shoes muddy," he explained to one of the anxiously waiting motorists.

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

All this time there was great excitement at the railroad station. Mr. Brown had left word that his goat was to be held until the next night's train to Havre, as he intended to spend a day in Paris, but the express department had no goat to hold, so the matter was reported to the police department, and within a few moments all the gendarmes of Paris were looking for a mischievous white goat with freshly singed spots on his shiny coat.

One of these gendarmes, soon after he had received his instructions, found Billy and a big stray Tom cat eyeing each other with every intention of immediate war. Billy had never spoken to a cat before and so when he saw this strange animal on the street he walked straight up to it and said "Baah!" He intended to mean something like our "Good evening. It's pleasant weather, isn't it?" but Billys voice at best was not a very gentle one and his long horns looked threatening, so the big cat arched his back and bristled his hair and stuck his tail straight up. Billy did not know much about cats, but he could easily see that this one meant fight, so he shook his head angrily. They were standing in front of one of the pleasant Paris sidewalk cafes and a great many ladies and gentlemen were seated at little round tables under the broad awning.

Just as the gendarme recognized Billy by his singed coat, the cat let out an ear-splitting "meow!" and, jumping up, scratched Billy's face with the sharp claws of both his forefeet; then it sprang up on one of the empty tables and down on the other side. Billy, smarting with pain, jumped after him, upsetting the chairs on the other side with a crash. The express department had offered a good reward to whoever should find Billy, so the gendarme took after the goat, overturning some more chairs. The cat darted here and there and everywhere among the little round tables and Billy right after him. The cat ran under a table at which were sitting two gentlemen and two ladies, and Billy, now so angry that he did not notice where he was going, forced his way right after him, upsetting the table, spilling the glasses and bottles upon it into the laps of the ladies and making a tremendous noise. Table after table they overturned in this way.

Another gendarme, attracted by the hubbub, came up and saw Billy. He too, gave chase, adding to the confusion. Everybody began to shove back their chairs. All of the people were either talking or laughing or screaming at the top of their voices. Waiters came running, and one of them, a little excitable man with a funny little black mustache, tried to head Billy off. All he got for it was a good bump right in the middle of his big white apron and he landed back against another waiter who was bringing a big tray full of glasses. The two of them went to the floor together in a noisy pile of tables, and chairs, and Billy dashed right on over them. This time, the cat, which was bewildered by the crowd and had scarcely known which way to run, fouud on opening to the street. Having a clear track, he would easily have gotten away from Billy except that just at that moment a third gendarme saw the cat and the goat coming and jumped square in the road of them.

(Did Billy escape? Youll learn tomorrow.)

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

BY ROY K. MOULTON

MR. HOPPE AND THE BEAUTIFUL LADIES.

We have been much concerned about the probable fate of Mr. Hoppe, the eminent English art photographer, who is in this country to select America's five most beautiful women. It may be that he is in this country for no such purpose whatever, and in fact he says he is not, but if he is, he has our condolences.

In America we have queer ideas of beauty. As soon as it is bruited about that somebody is going to select the five or ten most beautiful women in America we are treated to newspaper pictures of hundreds of bautiful women, and find ourselves wondering how some of them got that way.

Some women are beautiful and others are good looking. Personally I have always favored the latter, but they seldom are entered in these contests.

The best looking lady I ever saw in my life was Miss Lizzie Katz, whose father kept a delicatessen store, but you would by no means call her beautiful because almost any lady can be beautiful if she floats in the proper stratum of society, and Miss Katz got along entirely on her looks.

In my younger days I thought Miss Katz the most beautiful creature that ever lived. Later, after looking at the pictures of beautiful women, I found that Miss Katz was not beautiful—she was something more—she was good to look at.

I don't know to this day whether it was the perfect contour of her face, her wonderful eyes or her Cupid's bow mouth that held me spellbound, but as she stood there day after day carving the headcheese and fishing out the dill pickles, her wondrous hair reflecting the yellowish tint of the tub of oleomargarine, I often said, away back in those days, that if Mr. Hoppe ever did come over here, he should hop around and see Miss Katz.

The point I am trying to make is that what was true of Miss Katz is doubtless true of many other young ladies, although Miss Katz, I am sorry to say, eloped with a circus strong man and the next time I saw her she was the mother of nine children, and while perhaps more beautiful was not quite so good looking.

Maybe it was because I had grown older and was less optimistic, but the former Miss Katz had lost most of the jazz and zip that was hers when she mixed the cabbage salad with her lily-white hands.

There are thousands, aye millions, perhaps, like Miss Katz, who would charm Mr. Hoppe and cause him to go back on the boat without making any selections. We are long on pulchritude in this country, and it is not by any means confined to the limousine trade.

To select the five most beautiful women in America without causing a revolution would be next to impossible, and land knows we have enough troubles now.

We believe that after looking over the first 900,000 Mr. Hoppe will be ready to hop back.

And, at that, they don't look as beautiful as they did before prohibition set in.

SCREAMING TO HERSELF.

"Dragging out from beneath her bed the suitcase, she crammed in the little garment, and finally, strapping down the lid again, laid her head against it, silently screaming her despair."—Red Book Magazine.

When we can't think of an idea for a paragraph, we write one like this without any idea.

A RUBAIYAT OF THE HAS-BEENS.

A Cross of Gold, a Crown of Thorns and thou
Didst make some Thunder, that we will allow;
Yes, quite some noise you made a little while,
But where, O Bryan, is thy Thunder now?

Who knows in what secluded, distant nook,
The world forgetting, by the world forsook,
Rests now the hero of that gum-drop dash,
And Copenhagen's hero, Ol' Doc Cook?

Oh, once upon a time, the public prints
Were full of "Fruitless Search" and caustic hints,
And one most widely sought won world-wide fame.
We haven't heard of Nicky Arnstein since.

When history spun off its big war reel,
There was one who conserved the public weal
And told us what we might peruse and think.
Boy, page that old-time censor guy, George Creel.

Though heralded from London to the Louvre
As one who kept food running in a grove,
And winner of a meed of public thanks,
We wonder what's become of Herbert Hoov.

We have got hold of a new mosquito exterminator that beats anything else we have ever seen, and our experience as a mosquito victim has been long and meritorious. It long has been our custom to exterminate mosquitoes by catching them by the hind legs and holding them up in front of an electric fan until they died of pneumonia, but this is a rather tiresome method, requiring more time and cunning than the job deserves.

The new exterminator is a liquid which you blow from a bottle through a little tin bowpipe. Two or three puffs of it in a room will not only kill all the mosquitoes, but will also exterminate the family cat and will peel all the wallpaper off the walls. If you blow one puff of it out of the window it will paralyze every mosquito within one mile of your house. The other day we were fooling with the thing on the front porch and, in a playful mood, potshot it at a Ford car which was passing. The poor insect flapped, turned over on its back, gave a few spasmodic shivers and passed away. That is an old story, of course, but everybody else who ever tried it on a Ford used insect powder. Our story has the added charm of being literally true.
